Little Stories For Bedtime

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS

GRANNY FOX IS FOUND OUT

Granny Fox is sly and wise. She seldom takes by surprise. But wisdom wrongly put to use can never find a good excuse. It ceases then to wisdom be it foolishness, as you shall see.

When Granny Fox had gone to Prickly Porky the Porcupine with an untrue story about how Old Man Coyote had boasted that he would dine on porcupine the first time he met Prickly Porky, and had then gone to Old Man Coyote with an untrue story about how Prickly Porky had boasted that he would drive Old Man Coyote out of the Green Forest, she had thought herself very smart and clever. She knew that both would become very angry and that they would be sure to fight the very first time they met. And she was sure that if they did fight Old Man Coyote would get hurt for she suspected that he had never met Prickly Porky, and so knew nothing about his terrible little spears. You see, what she wanted was to have Old Man Coyote driven away from the Green Forest and the Green Meadows, for she is afraid of him, and she was also afraid that he would spoil the hunting for herself and Reddy Fox.

Now with all her smartness and all her cleverness old Granny Fox made one great mistake. Yes, sir, old Granny Fox made one great mistake. You see she had become so used to being thought the smartest and cleverest of all the little people who live on the Green Meadows and around the Sniffling Pool and in the Green Forest that she had come to believe that there couldn't be anybody any where as smart and clever as she. That was because she didn't know Old Man Coyote. And now as she and Reddy Fox watched from their hiding place the meeting between the wolf and Prickly Porky, she felt a sudden sharp sting in her pride. Old Man Coyote had proved himself too smart for Prickly Porky, she found her teeth as she heard him laughing fit to kill himself, as he kept out of Prickly Porky's reach, and she found it still more as she heard him say:

"You will boast that you will drive me out of the Green Forest, will you, Mr. Porcupine? The time to brag will be when you have done it." Prickly Porky stopped short in the middle of one of his clumsy rushes. "Boaster and bragger yourself!" he grunted. "You don't seem to be dining on Porcupine the first time we've met! Why don't you? Why don't you make your own boast good?"

"What's that?" Somebody has been filling your ears with something that is very like a lie, Mr. Porcupine."

"No more than they have yours, Mr. Coyote," replied Prickly Porky, letting his thousand little spears drop part way back into his coat. "But old Granny Fox told me."

"Ha! So it was Granny Fox!" interrupted Old Man Coyote. "So it was old Granny Fox! Well, it was the same old mischief maker who told me that—" He stopped and suddenly looked very hard at the very place where Granny and Reddy were hiding. Then he made a long jump in that direction. Granny and Reddy didn't wait for him. They started for home so fast that they looked like nothing but two little red streaks disappearing among the trees.

He stopped and suddenly looked very hard.

"Ha, ha, ha! Ho, ho, ho! Hee, hee, hee! Ha, ho, hee, ho!" laughed Old Man Coyote, and all the little meadow and forest people who were looking on laughed with him. Then he turned to Prickly Porky. "I guess you and I are going to be friends," said he. "I guess we are," replied Prickly Porky, and all his little spears dropped out of sight.

Dance Frock

Does your dance frock need a new touch for the hop next week? Go to the garden for it. Of course, your garden must be one of ribbon and your clever fingers the fashioner of leaves and blossoms, or you may buy from a shop blossoms made of velvet with rubber stems. Put them together on two lengths of tulle and let satin, silk or velvet form a new girle on either side of which the vine effect will be fastened. Not quite half way down tack the flowers to the skirt. These flower effects are good only on gowns built on bouffant lines.

Where to Find Home Cooking In New York

CHEF A. L. WYMAN

By A. L. WYMAN, Chef

After living here for nearly two months we have found that all the places to eat are not on Broadway, in fact the majority of the high class cafes in this city sell entertainment, not food. In our hunt for a good reasonable cafe we were invited by a friend to go with him for dinner to a Jewish cafe on one of the side streets above the nineties and since dinner here nearly every night. The chef is the owner and we have exchanged recipes and I think that I have secured some recipes that will be of interest to my readers.

Novel Nut Soup
Cream of almonds and cashews served here is a treat. To make this soup, grind or pound half a pound of blanched almonds, add to the almonds two cups of milk and simmer slowly for five minutes. Place in a saucepan one tablespoon of butter and one tablespoon of flour and rub smooth. Add the nut mixture and slowly one cup of milk and when the mixture is smooth add the almond mixture and simmer until creamy. Remove from the fire, season with pepper and salt and add one cup of cream.

Nourishing Lentil Soup
Lentil soup without meat has more nourishment than soups made with meat stock. This is made by soaking two cups of cleaned lentils over night in cold water. Drain a sliced onion in some clear fat and add the lentils drained from the water; fry five minutes and add three stalks of celery chopped fine, salt and pepper to taste and eight cups of warm water. Boil all slowly until the lentils are soft, stirring occasionally. Press through a sieve, return to the saucepan, heat again and serve with cubes of bread fried in butter.

Vegetable Soup
To make oxtail soup as served here, wash and cut in pieces two large oxtails. Slice fine one onion and fry brown in two tablespoons of oil. Add the oxtails and brown them. Place in a soup kettle the browned oxtails and browned onions with two teaspoons of salt, a bay leaf, two sprigs of parsley, four cloves and four peppercorns. Simmer for three hours. Skim off the fat and strain through a cheese cloth. Cut slices of carrot, turnip and potato in fancy shapes and simmer for 20 minutes in hot water. Add vegetables to strained soup and serve very hot.

A New Way to Cook Calf's Feet
Calf's feet with prunes and chestnuts will be a new delicacy for those who want something different. Two cleaned calf's feet should be sawed into joints, seasoned with salt and pepper the day before using. Peel and remove the skin from half a pound of Italian chestnuts and place in an iron pot; over the chestnuts place the seasoned calf's feet, half a pound of seedless raisins, half pound of fine prunes, one small onion, one small celery root, half a dozen small olives, one-quarter teaspoon of paprika and one cup of soup stock. Stew slowly for five hours and one hour before serving add one tablespoon of lemon juice and five tablespoons of orange juice. This should not be stirred while cooking.

Boiled Tongue "Sweet and Sour"
Boiled fresh beef tongue with sweet and sour sauce is a dish that men will go miles to secure. Lay a fresh beef tongue in cold water for two hours; remove, wipe clean and place in a pot with enough water to barely cover; add salt, closely cover the pot and boil for three hours or until a fork can be run through the thickest part. Pare off the thick skin from the tongue and sprinkle each slice with a little fine salt. Now make a sauce by placing in a saucepan one tablespoon of drippings, one finely chopped onion and when the onion is clear add one tablespoon of flour. Stir in gradually two cups of the liquor in which the tongue was boiled; cut one lemon in thin slices. Remove the seeds and add to the sauce with four tablespoons of chopped blanched almonds, one-third of a cup of seedless raisins, a small stick of cinnamon, three tablespoons of brown sugar mixed with half a teaspoon of ground cinnamon, one tablespoon of molasses and two tablespoons of vinegar. Let this boil and lay in the sliced tongue and boil for five minutes. Serve with the sauce and garnish with cream.

Vegetable Combination
Baked tomato and egg plant with spaghetti makes a nice vegetable dish. Pour into a deep earthenware dish one cup of cream; line the dish with thin slices of egg plant sprinkled well with salt; slice two large tomatoes and place a layer of these on the egg plant; next place a layer of cooked spaghetti sprinkled with grated cheese, salt and pepper; cover this with a layer of sliced tomatoes; sprinkle over tomatoes finely chopped green peppers and cover with a layer of egg plant; salt and pepper well. Bake gently for one and a half hours.

Dessert Nouveau
A noodle charlotte was a new dessert that our friend serves and to make home-made noodles should be used. For the noodles beat three eggs very light and sift in enough flour to make a stiff paste. Work until smooth. Divide into four pieces and roll out each piece very thin. Set the rolls on a hot dry, then cut in long strips three-quarters of an inch wide. Boil the noodles in a pot of boiling salted water, when tender drain in a colander and stir in two tablespoons of butter. Place a layer of the cooked noodles in a baking dish and cover with a layer of peeled and sliced apples; cover apples with a layer of seedless raisins, cover raisins with a layer of noodles, then another of apples and raisins and the top layer of noodles. Beat the yolks of four eggs with one cup of powdered sugar until light, add the grated rind and juice of one orange; four tablespoons of chopped blanched almonds and the stiffly beaten whites of the four eggs. Pour this sauce over the noodles and raisins and place in a pan of hot water and bake in a slow oven two hours. Serve with orange custard sauce.

Potatoes-Hawaiian
Peel and cut in thick pieces boiled sweet potatoes and place a layer of the potato slices in the bottom of a well buttered baking dish; cover these with a layer of finely sliced pineapple.

Hot Summer Sun Trying On The Complexion

How to Protect Your Skin and Bring Roses to Your Cheeks

A Free Oatmeal Prescription Does Its Work Overnight. You Can Prepare It at Home

New York—Exposure to sun, dust and wind has a very bad effect upon the skin and complexion. There is a way to overcome this. "It is my own discovery and takes just one night to get such marvelous results," says Mae Edna Wilder when her friends ask her about her wonderful complexion and the improved appearance of her hands and arms. "You can do the same thing if you follow my advice," she says. "I feel it my duty to tell every girl and woman what this wonderful prescription did for me. Just think of it. All this change in a single night. I never tire of telling others just what brought about such remarkable results. Here is the identical formula that removed every defect from my face, neck, hands and arms. Until you try it you form no idea of the marvelous change it will make in just one application. The prescription, which you can prepare at your own home, is as follows:

"Go to any grocery store and get ten cents' worth of ordinary oatmeal and from any department or drug store a well buttered baking dish, cover these with a layer of finely sliced pineapple."

matter how rough and ungainly the hands and arms or what aches they have had through hard work and exposure to sun and wind, this combination will work a wonderful transformation. Thousands who are using it report the same results I have had."

Miss O. C. says: "My complexion was poor and my skin rough. My neck, chest, hands and arms were dark from exposure. The very first application of this wonderful Derwille-oatmeal combination convinced me that my poor complexion and skin blemishes would soon be a thing of the past. In a few weeks all these unsightly defects had entirely disappeared and I shall always use it to keep my complexion at its best all the time. I have recommended it to my girl friends and they are just as enthusiastic over it as I am. We all use it before going to the theater, dances or parties and it's wonderful what a difference it makes in our appearance."

Mrs. G. V. writes: "Oatmeal and Derwille have worked miracles with my complexion. I had many deep wrinkles and a sallow, rough skin. My hands and arms were covered with freckles. After eight weeks' use of Mae Edna Wilder's wonderful oatmeal prescription these objectionable defects have entirely vanished. I look ten years younger, and advise every girl and woman to try it and feel confident after one or two applications they will use it continually and be just as favorably improved with it as I am. I recommend it to all of my friends."

NOTE—To get the best effect be sure to follow the complete directions contained in every package of Derwille, and it is so simple that anyone can use it, and so inexpensive that any girl or woman can afford it. Department stores and druggists guarantee that there will be a noticeable improvement after the first application or they will refund the money. It is sold in this city at all toilet counters under a money refund guarantee, including THE SUN and THE OWL DRUG STORES.

Does Dot Suspect Anything?

Dot hardly spoke to me at breakfast. For the most part she stared right through me as though I were no more real than Santa Claus. When she did address me it was because she simply couldn't help herself.

I wondered whether she really had any time of jealousy because I had been seeing so much of Edith lately. I didn't think she actually suspected anything, but it was unfortunate that our visit to Bristol's chophouse had given Dot the idea that we ate in one of the cosy little alcoves there.

Apparently she had forgotten all about that suspicion, but I was afraid the idea was merely sleeping in her mind and would awake at the slightest excuse. Still, I had to see Edith about that letter.

"When have we an engagement with Edith and George?" I asked my wife.

"We haven't any."

"Can you make one for tonight or tomorrow night?"

"What for?" You're getting mighty interested in them. It was the first thing she had said to me that she had not been absolutely compelled to say.

"You know, Edith told me her father wants me to write him a letter about that job," I explained. "It will be a good thing for her to look

MAN, TOO, IS VAIN
A man's vainest point is his necktie, while a woman's is her hair. Says a man who has made a study of the matter. On spring days when business is slow he sometimes steps outside of his store and watches the passersby who stop and look at themselves in a mirror in his window. I have noticed that a man will invariably adjust his necktie while a woman will always fix her hair," he says. "No one can tell me that a woman is more vain than a man, either. Just as many men look in that mirror as women."—Milwaukee Journal.

SCOTLAND VINDICATED
A golfer dropped into a New York store to buy a driver.

"This club is off balance," he remarked to the clerk, as he juggled a nice looking brassie.

"That is a special order club. Let me have it, please," said the clerk nervously, piquing the curiosity of the shopper.

The manager, an old friend of the golfer, happened along just then.

"Bill," asked the customer, "what the deuce is the matter with this club? Just left the darned thing. It's all off balance."

Bill looked wise, and he looked all around carefully, then he replied in a stage whisper: "Pete, that is the over before I send it."

"Humph!"

"You know, this idea of my working for her father didn't originate with me. You and Edith were the ones who were so enthusiastic about it."

"If you hadn't let the firm cut your pay, there wouldn't have been any need of your looking for another job."

"It's like a woman to come back to that!" I told her. "Is it my fault that business is bad? To listen to you and your mother one would think that I had asked the firm to reduce my salary in order to spite you."

"What's my mother got to do with this? Why are you always picking on her? I should think you'd be mean enough to her without bringing her into the conversation in that way when we're merely trying to decide what night we're going to see the Siouxs. I'm glad my parents aren't up yet. I don't guess they are so anxious to see you."

"Well, if all we're trying to do is to decide when to see Edith and George, it strikes me you are bringing a lot of other things into the conversation."

I stopped right there, for I had sense enough to understand that anything I said would be used against me. I felt like a criminal on trial, and I told myself that my home was getting more and more like a modern jail—everything clean and orderly, but mighty strict discipline.

The telephone bell rang. Dot answered it. "Hello—oh, is that you, Edith? How are you, dear?"
